Raul Perez nominated for Jaycee award

Raul Perez, member of the Huntington Park Recreation Commission, has been nominated for the Huntington Park Jaycee's annual Distinguished Service Award.

The award will be presented to one of four nominees at a special dinner Saturday evening.

Perez was nominated by the Recreation Commission, as well as the Huntington Park Hospital Service Guild and International Immigration, Inc.

A past president of the Jaycees, Perez has been involved in many of the numerous club activities. He has participated in events such as the general city survey, community fair, youth sports, Special Olympics and curb painting.

Last year he was executive director of the city's annual Fabulous Christmas Lane Parade.

It was during Perez' tenure as Jaycee's president that the local "VD Hotline" originated. The "Hotline" later became a state project and was responsible for the "Project of the Year" award for the Huntington Park Jaycees.

Since then, the Los Angeles Venereal Disease Information Council was formed. Perez is a member and has served as vice president.
